

Funny Photo

Can you think of a funny caption for this photo? Turn it in at the office and we may run it in the next issue.

Brookfield Student on Ski Team

By Jillian Johnson

Some people miss school because they are sick or traveling with their parents. But when Margot Cutter takes time off from Brookfield, it usually means the snow level is high and the skiing is good.

Margot, who is in 6th grade, is on a ski team called the Heavenly Valley Ski Team. Margot was 3 years old when she started skiing and only 5 years old when she joined the team. The team trains in Heavenly Valley and compete at resorts like Sugar Bowl or North Star. There are more than 200 members, ranging in age from young children through teenagers.

When asked what kinds of races the team does Margot said, "We do slalom, downhill, and giant slalom."

She said that the medals a person wins are not given to the team, even though the team competes against other teams, but are kept by individuals. Last year, she won two medals when competing against skiers from the whole west coast.

An important question that many skiers ask is, "When does ski season start?" As Margot says, "It always depends on the level of snow."

Young Brookfield Actress

By Emani Decquir

Some people might have seen 8-year-old Morgan Henry, a Brookfield 4th grader, on television recently. She has been in approximately five commercials, including commercials for Lays Potato Chips and McDonald's. Morgan has also been in two TV series: "The Guardian" and "Mad About You."

Morgan has been acting since she was 4 years old. Morgan got started acting when her mother signed her up to try out. The reason Morgan started acting was because she really wanted to act.

"Acting is very hard," Morgan said. "I always have to go down to Los Angeles to get an acting part and then come all the way back home." But there are fun parts of acting also. Morgan said, "It's fun having a lot of lines." Morgan has met three famous people: Helen Hunt, Hank Azaria, and Paul Riser.

Morgan has a manager named Holly and her agent is Kazarian Spencer Associates. She said she thinks she is accepted for parts because she is a good actress.

Morgan is the only one in her family who is in the acting business. Her parents are very happy with her in being an actress. Morgan is not sure if she is going to make a future out of acting.